

Integrated Suite of Online Financial Applications

Industry: Software & Hi-Tech

Location: USA

Client Background

Kyriba is a leading provider of distributed cash and treasury management solutions. Customers use the automated online system to better control their daily cash management tasks including bank balances, transaction reporting, payments, cash positioning & forecasting, automated general ledger posting, and investment portfolio reporting. The system automatically collects bank statements and facilitates automated cash, bank, and ledger reconciliations through Kyriba’s daily bank connectivity monitoring service.

Founded in 2000, headquartered in San Diego and Paris, with offices in New York, Milan, and Rio de Janeiro, Kyriba serves a global client base across hundreds of corporate treasuries, insurance companies, and financial institutions.

Business Challenge

Kyriba Corp. required to develop an integrated suite of online financial applications aimed at enhancing the value of service offerings at banks and financial institutions.

Key business challenges:

- Move from the existing legacy software to a modern treasury management solution with enhanced ergonomics, strong security, data interchange capabilities, internationalization features, and enhanced functionality and performance.
- Build up a geographically distributed team of 100+ persons. Establish the project organization, management, and communications.
- Tailor development methodology to make it useful and comfortable for people with different levels of experience and cultures.

Solution

- Re-engineering of the legacy product (VB, Btrieve)
- Requirements specification and management
- Analysis and design (validated by Rational)
- Implementation (validated by BEA)
- Software testing
- Integration
- Deployment (security validated by HP)
